BBR36007 TO DANCE AT THE PALAIS ROYALE

MCNAUGHTON, JANET

In 1928, Aggie Maxwell, 17, leaves her home in Scotland to join her sister in domestic service in Toronto. Although eager to help free her family from a life a backbreaking poverty in a small coal-mining town, the teen feels uncertain and fearful. Her sister Emma, an abrupt and critical young woman, offers little comfort. Aggie does find some relief from her loneliness in a friendship with her employer's son and one of his female companions, but this friendship is complicated by the rigid class distinction that separate them. Eventually, she meets Rachel Mendorfsky, a young Jewish immigrant in need of an English tutor. The two young women share secrets, jokes, and memories of their homelands, ;but their friendship is threatened by Emma's intolerance. Torn from Rachel, Aggie once again finds herself alone. However, this time her loneliness is not born of circumstances , but of a choice to stand by her beliefs. This growing confidence allows her to respond to the attentions of Will Collins, a young construction worker. As Aggie's family is reunited, she and Will prepare to begin a new life together. BBR42072 EDWARD'S EYES

MACLACHLAN, PATRICIA & MILO VENTIMIGLIA

Jakes first memory is of the day he was 3 years old, and Maeve and Jack brought baby Edward home. Maeve placed Edward in Jake's arms, Edward opened his eyes--the dark mud blue of the night sky with specks of gold--and Jake fell in love. This small, poetic story sings of baseball, family, loss, and life. As Milo Ventimiglia portrays Jake reflecting on his brother with the extraordinary eyes, his voice is full of the amazement and awe Jake feels in contemplating the miracle that was Edwards' life. The simple acoustic guitar melody that introduces and closes the story enhances the atmosphere Ventimiglia creates. See the world anew through Edwards' (extraordinary) eyes. Grades 4-7. 2007.

BBR42073 STOP THE TRAIN!

MCCAUGHREAN, GERALDINE

Ellen Myrick's narration is spot-on in this rollicking story of pioneer times. The Full Cast Family delivers all the emotions of families struggling to build a new life in a new land. They arrive in Florence to stake claims at the start of the 1889 Oklahoma Land Rush, discovering that it is up to them to create the community that currently is just a dream in the dust. Hardships arise when the train bypasses Florence because the settlers won't sell their claims to the railroad. Hilarity ensues as various plans are hatched to force the train to stop. Hope wins out when success comes in a satisfying ending in which all sides win. Grades 5-8. 2005.

BBR42074 CHEW ON THIS: EVERYTHING YOU DON'T WANT TO KNOW ABOUT FAST FOOD

SCHLOSSER, ERIC

Including passages from Schlosser's best-selling adult book Fast Food Nation (2001) and other writings, the authors dish up a somewhat-less-stomach-churning look at the fast-food industry's growth, practices, and effects on public health. Folding in original interviews, recent statistics, and published research, along with such spicy taglines as "The Golden Arches are now more widely recognized than the Christian cross," they trace the hamburger's early years and the evolution of the McDonald's Corporation's revolutionary Speedee Service System. They follow with vivid tours through feedlots, abattoirs, and a chicken-processing plant to explore how fast food has achieved spectacular international success, particularly among an increasingly obese youth market, then round off with glimpses of Alice Waters' Edible Schoolyard initiative and other alternatives less likely to lead to gastric bypass surgery. Readers may not lose their appetites for McFood from this compelling study, but they will definitely come away less eager to get a McJob and more aware of the diet's attendant McMedical problems.

Grades 6-9. 2006.

BBR 42075 THE AMELIA BEDELIA TREASURY

PARISH, PEGGY

Join the lovable, literal-minded housekeeper for triple the fun in this special collection of three-books-in-one. Whether she's baby-sitting, gardening, or doing house-hold chores. Includes three books by Peggy Parish. Grades 1-3. 1995.

BBR 42076 THE GUIDE DOG MYSTERY: A BOXCAR CHILDREN MYSTERY

WARNER, GERTRUDE CHANDLER

The Boxcar Children are going to visit a guide-dog school. But once they arrive, mysterious things start to happen. Is someone after one of the dogs? The Boxcar Children are determined to find out! Grades 2-5. 1996.

BBR 42077 SEE BEHIND TREES

DORRIS, MICHAEL

The best adolescent fiction offers more than an escape from teenage turmoil; it instructs as it entertains, giving young readers a view into lives--fictional though they may be--outside their own. Without sentimentality or preachiness but with clear awareness of this power, Michael Dorris tells the story of Walnut, a young Native American boy. Because Walnut can't see well, he has difficulty meeting the challenges, especially feats of skill with bow and arrow, that prove he is ready to receive a new name and become an adult. When a sympathetic uncle invents a new contest to "see what can't be seen," the boy's other senses bring success and earn him the name Sees Behind Trees. Dorris could easily stop there, but he nudges the youngster onward through a series of trials that show adulthood is about more than getting there. Grades 4-7. 1999.

BBR 42078 RUBY HOLLER

CREECH, SHARON

The characters introduced here two abandoned children, their villainous guardians and a kindly country couple might have stepped out of a Dickens novel, but as Creech (Love that Dog) probes beneath their facades, the characters grow more complex than classic archetypes. Florida and her brother Dallas, raised in an orphanage run by the cold-hearted Trepids, rely on each other rather than grownups for support. They become suspicious when Mr. Trepid informs them that they are going to a place called Ruby Holler to accompany old Mr. and Mrs. Morey on separate vacations. Florida is to be Mr. Tiller Morey's companion on a canoe trip; Dallas is to help Mrs. Sairy Morey hunt down an elusive bird. Ready for the trips proves to be a journey in itself as the Moreys, Florida and Dallas make discoveries about one another as well as themselves in a soothing rural environment. Carnegie Medal. Grades 2-6. 2002.

BBR 42079 THE SEVEN HABITS OF HIGHLY EFFECTIVE TEENS COVEY, SEAN

In a sparkling production, Covey answers questions from a professional announcer and introduces short testimonials from real teenagers about how they implemented each of the seven habits. Snappy music is used as background and transitions, and the tone of the entire program is hip and contemporary. Being based on a time-proven set of principles helps the effort, and the author uses many of his father's anecdotes and analogies. His own charm and authority come through in spite of the hot-dog antics of the professional announcer. The production is remarkable for its freshness and provides two hours of upbeat help for any teenager who wants it. Grades 7 and up.

BBR 42080 THE STORY OF MY LIFE AHMEDI, FARAH

Farah Ahmedi is born into the world just as the war between the mujahideen and the Soviets reaches its peak in Afghanistan. Bombs are falling all over her country, and her native Kabul is swelling with hundreds of thousands of people looking for homes and jobs. The sounds of gunfire and fighter planes are as normal to Farah as the sounds of traffic or children playing are to a schoolgirl in America. When Farah steps on a land mine on her way to school, her world becomes much smaller than the dreams and hopes in her heart. She begins to learn--slowly--that ordinary people, often strangers, have immense power to save lives and restore hope.

BBR 42081 TRUESIGHT STAHLER JR., DAVID

Growing up in Harmony Station, a colony established on a distant planet by an association of blind people who have had themselves genetically altered so that their offspring will be blind, too, Jacob is approaching his pivotal 13th birthday when, in the wake of a series of severe headaches, he realizes that he can see. What he sees, besides previously unsuspected natural beauty all around, is that his supposedly pious, tightly knit, morally upright community harbors food thieves, adulterers, and hypocrites. For junior and senior high readers. 2004.

BBR 42082 EAST

PATTOU, EDITH

Scandinavia. An enormous white bear that is the victim of cruel enchantment visits young Rose and promises to heal her ailing sister if she accompanies him on a journey. They travel to a distant castle where Rose meets a mysterious stranger and learns the bear's true identity. For grades 6-9. 2003.

BBR 42083 MIRACLE ON 49TH STREET

LUPICA, MIKE

When 12-year-old Molly Parker returns to America from England following her mother's death from cancer, she harbors a secret: her father is the star point guard of the Boston Celtics, Josh Cameron. Molly confronts Josh, who reacts with ambivalence to the sudden news that he is a father, but as their relationship grows, he seems to want to make Molly part of his life. Still, he also seems worried about his good-guy, bachelor image. Adding further pressure to the situation are his warmhearted housekeeper and greedy, image-conscious agent. For grades 5-8. 2006.

BBR 42084 SUMMERLAND

CHABON, MICHAEL

Eleven-year-old Ethan Feld, the least gifted ballplayer on Clam Island, is recruited to be a hero and defend the Ferishers in Summerland against giants, goblins, and a touch baseball team. He is assisted by his resolute friend, Jennifer T. Rideout, and assorted creatures. For grades 5-8 and older readers. Bestseller. 2002.

BBR 42085 GENTLE'S HOLLER

MADDEN, KERRY

Great Smoky Mountains, North Carolina; 1960s. Livy Two worries that love and music cannot feed a family of ten, especially since her father has no steady job, her sister Gentle is probably blind, and her mother keeps having babies. Then her bossy grandmother pays a visit. For grades 5-8. 2005.

BBR 42086 EATS, SHOOTS AND LEAVES: WHY, COMMAS REALLY DO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

TRUSS, LYNNE

Truss's picture-book version of her adult bestseller tackles the topic of commas and what can go wrong when they are misused. The title is derived from an old joke in which a panda misunderstands correct panda behavior after reading a poorly punctuated wildlife guide. Versions of two identically worded sentences are presented side by side, demonstrating the difference in meaning achieved when a comma is added or subtracted. For grades 1-3. 2006.

BBR 42087 THE CHRISTMAS RAT

AVI

Eric Andrick stops feeling bored during Christmas vacation when he becomes deputy to exterminator Anjela Gabrail. Eric swears to attack all rats in his vicinity or to pay the penalty. When Eric has second thoughts about killing the rat in his basement, Anjela reveals the penalty. For grades 4-7. 2000.

These terrific 20 are the best of the best!

BBR 42093 AUSTRALIAN ANIMALS

ARNOLD, CAROLINE

From the familiar kangaroo and koala to the more unusual echidna and wombat, Caroline Arnold highlights Australia's extraordinary variety of wildlife. This award-winning author captivates her young audience with a lively, concise text and action photographs. Children are invited to watch a platypus swim through the swamp, a wide-eyed glider cling tightly on a limb, and a thorny devil lizard creep across the desert sand. The brightly colored photographs make the animals seem to leap off the page in this vivid introduction to the animals that live in the forests, grasslands, deserts, and coasts of this fascinating, faraway continent.

BBR 42101 I, HOUDINI: THE AMAZING STORY OF AN ESCAPE-ARTIST HAMSTER

BANKS, LYNN REID

You may think Houdini is a strange name for a hamster, but if you've ever heard of the late Great Houdini, the most amazing escape-artist of all time, you'll understand how I got my name. I'm proud to say that there hasn't been a cage built that can hold me. I can climb, dive, wriggle, squeeze, or gnaw my way out of any prison they came up with. I have to admit that sometimes freedom leads to a bit of trouble--like getting cornered by the cat, ending up in the dog's mouth, or being trapped in the freezing cold of a dark refrigerator. But I won't be stopped! With a whole big world out there to explore, who wants to be held prisoner in a hamster cage?
